Opportunity Description

To be an ESU Public Speaking Judge you will need great oral communication skills, an ability to summarise objectively and the capacity to put young people at ease. Through constructive feedback, you will help to develop young people's confidence, knowledge, and skills in speaking and listening.

You will be equally at ease working independently or as part of a larger judging team, not least with Branch Chairs (if applicable). Your attention to detail will ensure you can also capture and return results in writing via the competition matrix in a timely fashion to aid the smooth running of further heats.

In return you will be part of a wide network of volunteers and get to see first-hand the power of voice and the positive impact it can have on young people.

Opportunity Summary

You will:

- Judge (in-person and where relevant on Zoom) the ESU Public Speaking Competition heats
- Provide positive, constructive, and high-quality oral feedback to participants
- Record competition results using the ESU guidelines and marking criteria
- Work collaboratively and professionally with other judges
- Actively promote other ESU programmes and membership to the teachers you meet
- Promote the English-Speaking Union's aims and objectives and follow safeguarding and equity policies

To Take Part, We Need You To:

- Have good oral communication and listening skills
- Be happy speaking to an audience
- Have a friendly personality
- Have access to a computer. This is both so you can access the Zoom events and so we can share details of current opportunities with you and so that your branch coordinator can reach you.

Whilst some experience of public speaking competitions would be advantageous, full training will be given

Our Commitment to You

Throughout your time volunteering with us you will receive support from the ESU, including full training for your specific role. Keeping you updated is important to us, and so we'll send you regular bulletins. What's more, there will be social opportunities to meet with other volunteers, including an annual recognition event, as well as Branch activities (as applicable).

You won't be out of pocket and can reclaim your approved travel expenses (car mileage, bus or train) in line with the ESU's travel expenses policy.
